

Southwest Popular/American Culture Association
Shakespeare in Popular Culture
Albuquerque, NM
Feb. 10-13, 2016
DEADLINE EXTENDED

The Shakespeare in Popular Culture Area is now accepting proposals for the Southwest Popular / American Culture Association's 37th annual conference, which will be held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel and Conference Center in Albuquerque, NM. We welcome proposals that treat the broad convergence of Shakespeare, pop culture, and mediatization.

Potential topics might include: global Shakespeares; inter- and cross-cultural Shakespeares (and his contemporaries); Shakespearean auteurs; digital Shakespeares; screen Shakespeares; Shakespeare and the digital humanities; and postmodern Shakespeares.

Please submit a 250 word proposal to conference2016.southwestpca.org by November 15, 2015. Inquiries may be directed to Area Chair Jessica Maerz at jmaerz@email.arizona.edu.

Details about the conference, including information about conference travel and graduate student awards, and Dialogue, SWPACA's new journal, can be found at www.southwestpca.org.
